And Independent Auditors' Report thereon

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

To the Directors of Canadian Sport Institute Calgary

Opinion

We have audited the financial statements Canadian Sport Institute Calgary, which comprise:

- the statement of financial position as at March 31, 2022
- the statement of operations and changes in net assets for the year then ended
- the statement of cash flows for the year then ended
- and notes to the financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies.

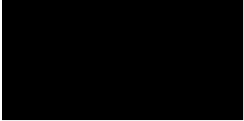

(Hereinafter referred to as the "financial statements").

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Entity as at March 31, 2022, and its results of operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the "Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements" section of our auditors' report.

We are independent of the Entity in accordance with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the financial statements in Canada and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Other Information

Management is responsible for the other information. Other information comprises:

- the information, other than the financial statements and the auditors' report thereon, included in Annual Report document.

Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and we do not and will not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information identified above and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit and remain alert for indications that the other information appears to be materially misstated.

We obtained the information, other than the financial statements and the auditors' report thereon, included in Annual Report document as at the date of this auditors' report.

If, based on the work we have performed on this other information, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact in the auditors' report.

We have nothing to report in this regard.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged with Governance for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Entity's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Entity or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing the Entity's financial reporting process.

Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditors' report that includes our opinion.

Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards will always detect a material misstatement when it exists.

Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of the financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit.

We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.

- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Entity's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Entity's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditors' report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditors' report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Entity to cease to continue as a going concern.

- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
- Communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.
- Obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the entities or business activities within the group Entity to express an opinion on the financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the group audit. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

CANADIAN SPORT INSTITUTE CALGARY

Notes to Financial Statements

March 31, 2022, with comparative information for 2021

Nature of organization:

The Canadian Sport Institute Calgary (the "Institute") commenced operations on April 1, 1994 and was incorporated on October 24, 1994 under the Societies Act of the Province of Alberta as a not-for-profit organization. The Institute is a tax exempt registered Canadian amateur athletic association within the meaning of Section 248(1) of the Income Tax Act.

The mission of the Institute is to provide a world-leading multisport daily training environment for podium pathway athletes and coaches through expert leadership, services and programs. The primary objective of the Institute is to enhance the existing well-established training environment in the Calgary area with new and upgraded programs and services for athletes, coaches and other sport leaders.

1. Significant accounting policies:

(a) Presentation and disclosure of controlled profit-oriented enterprises:

On April 1, 2014, the Institute divested its Fuel for Gold operations into a separate company. Fuel for Gold Inc. (the "Company") operates a food court restaurant at the University of Calgary for use by athletes, through a subsidized meal program, and by the general public. The Institute is the sole shareholder of the Company. Also, a majority of the directors of the Company are officers or directors of the Institute. The controlled Company has not been consolidated with the Institute in these financial statements. Instead, the Institute accounts for the controlled Company using the equity method and discloses financial information about the controlled Company, as specified in Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations in Part III of the CPA Canada Handbook – Accounting.

The financial statements include the Institute's share of the profit and equity movements of equity accounted investees, after adjustments to align the accounting policies with those of the Institute, from the date that significant influence or control commences until the date that significant influence or control ceases. When the Institute's share of losses exceeds the carrying amount of the investment in an equity accounted investee, the carrying amount of that investment is reduced to $nil and the recognition of future losses is discontinued except to the extent that the Institute has guaranteed an obligation of the investee or is otherwise committed to provide further financial support to the investee or the investee seems assured of imminently returning to profitability.

1. Significant accounting policies (continued):

(b) Revenue recognition:

The Institute follows the deferral method of recognizing contributions. Restricted contributions and sponsorships are recognized as revenue in the fiscal period in which the related expenses are incurred. Contributions restricted for the purchase of property and equipment are deferred and amortized into revenue on a straight-line basis, at a rate corresponding with the amortization rate for the related property and equipment.

Unrestricted contributions and sponsorships are recognized as revenue when received except when the contribution or sponsorship received relates to operations of a future fiscal period in which case the contribution or sponsorship received is recorded as deferred revenue.

The Institute recognizes revenues from sport users fees, programs and other services when the service has been provided, revenue amounts are fixed or reasonably determinable and the ability to collect such amounts is reasonably assured.

(c) Use of estimates:

The preparation of the financial statements requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the period. Significant estimates include the valuation of accounts receivable and the useful lives of property and equipment for amortization purposes. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

On March 11, 2020, COVID-19 was declared a global pandemic. The situation is dynamic with various cities and countries around the world responding in different ways to address the outbreak. At this time, governments and businesses around the world are introducing significant new measures to contain and control the spread of the virus.

Initially, there was a significant drop in commodity prices and equity markets have reacted with the biggest decline experienced in more than a decade, however during the year many have mostly recovered.

As at the reporting date, the Institute has determined that COVID-19 has had no impact on its contracts or lease agreements, the assessment of provisions and contingent liabilities, or the timing of revenue recognition. Management has assessed the financial impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic and did not identify any impacts on its financial statements as at March 31, 2022.

Year ended March 31, 2022, with comparative information for 2021

1. Significant accounting policies (continued):

The Institute continues to use its tangible capital assets and management has not assessed any impairment that needs to be recognized on these assets at March 31, 2022. The Institute also continues to manage liquidity risk by forecasting and assessing cash flow requirements on an ongoing basis. As at March 31, 2022, the Institute continues to meet its contractual obligations within normal payment terms and the Institute's exposure to credit risk remains largely unchanged.

(d) Property and equipment:

Purchased property and equipment are recorded at historical cost. Donated property and equipment are recorded at estimated fair value at the date of donation where such value can be reasonably estimated; otherwise the assets are recorded at a nominal value.

Amortization is recorded on a straight-line basis at the following annual rates prorated in the year of acquisition:

Office and high performance equipment	20%
Computer hardware and software	30%
Leasehold improvements	20%
Kitchen equipment	20%

(e) Donated goods and services:

A portion of the Institute's work is dependent on voluntary services and donated goods from many members and supporters. Donated goods and services are recorded as both revenue and expense when the fair market value is reasonably determinable and when they would normally be purchased and paid for by the Institute, if not donated.

(f) Financial instruments:

Financial instruments are recorded at fair value on initial recognition. Freestanding derivative instruments that are not in a qualifying hedging relationship and equity instruments that are quoted in an active market are subsequently measured at fair value. All other financial instruments are subsequently recorded at cost or amortized cost, unless management has elected to carry the instruments at fair value.

Transaction costs incurred on the acquisition of financial instruments measured subsequently at fair value are expensed as incurred. All other financial instruments are adjusted by transaction costs incurred on acquisition and financing costs, which are amortized using the effective interest rate method.

Year ended March 31, 2022, with comparative information for 2021

1. Significant accounting policies (continued):

(f) Financial instruments (continued):

Financial assets are assessed for impairment on an annual basis at the end of the fiscal year if there are indicators of impairment. If there is an indicator of impairment, the Institute determines if there is a significant adverse change in the expected amount or timing of future cash flows from the financial asset. If there is a significant adverse change in the expected cash flows, the carrying value of the financial asset is reduced to the highest of the present value of the expected cash flows, the amount that could be realized from selling the financial asset or the amount the Institute expects to realize by exercising its right to any collateral. If events and circumstances reverse in a future period, an impairment loss will be reversed to the extent of the improvement, not exceeding the initial carrying value.

(g) Government assistance:

The Institute applies for financial assistance under available government incentive programs. Government assistance relating to expenses of the period is recorded as revenue on the statement of operations.

(h) Related party transactions:

Monetary related party transactions and non-monetary related party transactions that have commercial substance are measured at the exchange amount when they are in the normal course of business, except when the transaction is an exchange of a product or property held for sale in the normal course of operations. Where the transaction is not in the normal course of operations, it is measured at the exchange amount when there is a substantive change in the ownership of the item transferred and there is independent evidence of the exchange amount.

All other related party transactions are measured at the carrying amount.

During the year, the Institute met the eligibility requirements and received $229,600 (2021 – $749,861) for the CEWS program and $34,852 (20201 - $Nil) for the THRP program. 11. Financial instruments and related risks (continued):

(a) Credit risk (continued):

The Institute is exposed to credit risk on its accounts receivable from its clients and cash, due from related party and investments in money market funds. Concentration of credit risk arises as a result of exposures to a single debtor or to a group of debtors having similar characteristics such that their ability to meet contractual obligations would be similarly affected by changes in economic, political, or other conditions. The Institute monitors credit risk by assessing the collectability of its accounts receivable. Of the accounts receivable at March 31, 2022, $15,000 (2021 – $128,220) relates to partner funding and donations and $302,761 (2021 – $485,178) relates to trade accounts receivable. $266,576 (2021 – $221,748) has been provided for doubtful accounts as at year end related to amounts due from related party. The Institute mitigates credit risk through the review of the credit worthiness of the counter parties, and by holding its cash and investments with large Canadian commercial banks.

(b) Market risk:

Market risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market prices. Change in market prices, interest rate levels, indices and other market factors will result in losses. The Institute is not exposed to significant market risk.

(c) Liquidity risk:

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Institute will encounter difficulties in meeting obligations associated with financial liabilities. The Institute is not exposed to significant liquidity risk and manages its liquidity risk by monitoring its operating and capital and requirements. The Institute prepares budgets and cash forecasts to ensure it has sufficient funds to fulfill its obligations as they come due.

There have been no changes to the risk exposure from 2020 other than the potential impacts of COVID-19 as disclosed in note 1(c).
